FRANCE COMPLETING PLANS FOR RUHR INVASION

CONFERENCES OVER GREAT BRITAIN'S DEBT TO CLOSE UNFINISHED

'Tentative Agreement' Will Come Out of Sessions, Present Indication

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The senate late today went definitely on record as favoring immediate withdrawal of American troops from Germany. A resolution expressed as the sense of the senate that the more than 1000 United States soldiers at Coblenz bridgehead be summoned home by President Harding was adopted.

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Preliminary moves by Great Britain's debt envoys today gave unmistakable evidence that negotiations with the American commission will wind up in less than two weeks. The big job of funding the British $5,000,000,000 debt, unfinished, it became apparent from the skillful maneuvers of the British spokesmen today that formal conferences, yet to be begun, can do little more than lay the groundwork for some future, and possibly more delayed debt parity.

Terms of the proposals submitted to the American commission by the British spokesman Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, and Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, cannot be legally entertained by the American commission. Basis of Proposition England's proposition is said to be based entirely upon conversion of the demand notes held by this government into obligations running with maturities far exceeding twenty-five years—the time limit set by congress. England demands also a more flexible interest rate plan.

Out of the cold and conservative calculations which may ensue in the next few days there merely will be "tentative agreement," possibly under a plan, or methods of a funding plan, "satisfactory to Great Britain" and the important physical steps for reducing to black and white Great Britain's promises to pay on the obligations of varying maturities will be left to the future. The British mission is due to leave for England about January 20, as Chancellor Baldwin was in London February 1 to prepare the British budget.

MEETING TONIGHT TO DISCUSS PARK

Citizens of South Section to Hold Gathering in the Cerritos School

A mass meeting will be held in the Cerritos school house tonight by citizens of Southern Glendale. A doubt as to the possibility of using the Cerritos school site for a public park was expressed this morning by Richardson D. White, superintendent of the elementary schools, discussing tonight's meeting.

According to Mr. White, this property originally was part of the Richardson estate and was deeded to the Tropico School district with the understanding that it should be used as a school site. Therefore, he is of the opinion that it could be used for no other purpose without the consent of all heirs.

Whether the Magnolia or Cerritos schools should be improved will be the subject of tonight's mass meeting. Mr. White stated that, if it could be decided that the best policy would be to improve the Magnolia school, the question of utilizing the Cerritos site for a park could be held in abeyance.

Woman Must Die On Scaffold; Her Final Hope Goes

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service.
LONDON, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Edith Thompson, a beautiful young wife, who, with her youthful lover, Frederick Bywaters, must die for murder on the scaffold next Tuesday morning, was on the verge of complete collapse in her cell today. She was under the care of a doctor and a nurse.

Mrs. Thompson's last hope vanished when the home secretary, William R. Clive Bridgeman, refused to grant a reprieve despite the nationwide appeals in the woman's behalf which have been pouring into the home office ever since she was condemned to hang on December 11.

Mrs. Thompson will be the first woman hanged in Great Britain in more than fifteen years. She and Bywaters were found guilty of killing her husband, Percy Thompson.

A national crusade against the death penalty in Great Britain is gathering force as a result of the forthcoming executions. One of the leading figures in the campaign is John Drinkwater, playwright, author of the drama, "Abraham Lincoln."

"Capital punishment is not solving any problem," said Drinkwater. "It is a pretty poor kind of business, and some day it will find us out."

WILLAMETTE RIVER THREATENS FLOOD

High Waters Hit Valley and Portland Is Expected to Bear Brunt

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 6.—Severe flood conditions struck the Willamette valley today and Portland is expected to bear the brunt of a heavy current rising several feet above the Willamette river flood stage during the week-end.

The flood follows one of the heaviest rainfalls in the Willamette valley during the winter season, ranging from .32 of an inch at Portland to 1.75 inches at Albany, Ore.

Dock owners on the waterfront are clearing lower levels of storage space. The Santiam river at Jefferson and the Willamette at Eugene were reported over their banks today by the district weather office.

Woolwine May Head Movie Association

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, it was learned today, is seriously considering resigning his office of district attorney of Los Angeles county to accept the position of executive head of the independent Producing Managers' association, a motion picture organization. The new position will carry a five years' contract, it is said, with a compensation of $25,000 a year.

After being informed as to the details connected with the new position and what will be his official capacity, Woolwine will meet with fifteen producers Monday night at the Hollywood office of Herman Roth, New York attorney, at which time he will be officially offered the leadership of the organization.

BOY FINDS SILVER

Eleven pieces of silver were found yesterday as the result of John Robert White, Jr., of 347 North Orange avenue, yesterday having lost a golf ball. When he went into the vacant lot adjoining his back yard he found the silverware which consisted of five teaspoons, five oyster forks, one fruit knife and one coffee spoon.

Uncle John Says--

"I worked mighty hard in my day and it seems kind of queer to be settin' around doin' nothin' now," I said to Mary. "Well," she says, "You don't need to set around doin' nothin'. We've invested in Glendale property and we're goin' to make money on it. You can help to boost up the values by showin' other property owners that we got to stick together and stand by Glendale. Get out and boost Glendale. That'll be a job that will bring us in money." I guess I got to.

FORMER OFFICER IS UNDER ARREST IN SLAYING CASE

Suspected of Having Killed Brother Policeman; Seelig Store Is Robbed

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Suspected of having slain his brother officer, Harold Titus, who mysteriously disappeared on December 28, and has not been heard from since, Ivan F. Moore, until recently a member of the Los Angeles police force, discharged from drinking, was arrested today, charged with suspicion of murder. Moore's arrest followed an exhaustive investigation which started when Patrolman Titus left his home in Vermont avenue, after quarreling with Moore during the afternoon of December 28. Titus was last seen the same evening when he left his home to report for duty. When he failed to appear for work a search was started immediately.

In the meantime, Moore is said to have met other officers in the Wilshire district, told them of his quarrel and made threats to "get" Titus. It is claimed that Moore boasted of killing a man in the east and said he thought he could get anyone who crossed him.

Open Gambling Dens

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Not to be daunted by being driven out of Los Angeles, gamblers that formerly operated large clubs here, are now conducting "country establishments" in the outlying districts and operating from bus lines from the doors of their former establishments to their new locations, it was learned today.

Two such places have been opened so far, one near Culver City and the other in East Sixty-second street. Each of these places have from ten to twenty automobiles a day in operation for the free use of their patrons who desire to "buck the tiger" or try their luck at "black jack" or "stud," it was stated.

Rob Seelig Store

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—After gaining entrance to the Sam Seelig store in Huntington Park early today by way of the skylight, a burglar smashed the lock on the store safe with what was apparently an axe or sledge hammer and escaped with $350, according to a report made to the constable at Huntington Park.

According to deputy sheriffs who were rushed from Los Angeles to investigate the robbery, it is believed the "job" was committed by the same man who has made a habit of robbing several Seelig stores in Los Angeles recently.

Still Seek Clara

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—More remote clues tending to strengthen the theory that Clara Phillips, escaped from the Los Angeles county jail while facing a prison sentence of from ten years to life for the hammer murder of Albert Meadows, may have fled into Canada by way of Seattle and later to China were being run down by the sheriff's office here today.

Battle of Pies

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Apparently angered because they did not find any more money when they looted the Bevidere bakery at Brooklyn avenue and Rowan street early today, two burglars seized pies and cakes from the shelves and threw them about the store, according to a report to the sheriff's office. The burglars got $8.

Tropico Men's Club Installs New Officers

Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church, conducted installation ceremonies last night at the installation of the officers of the church's men's club. The new officers are Sam Brown, president; William Malone, vice president; Leo D. Hyer, secretary-treasurer.

Motorcycle Officer's 'Mount' in Accident

Motorcycle Officer G. M. Booth parked his motorcycle for a moment at the northeast corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard about 3:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When he returned to it, J. D. Carman of 362 North Ditman street, Los Angeles, had backed his automobile into it. The principal damage was to the footboard. Mr. Carman promised to pay the repair bill.

Turks Mutter Threats At Meeting To Discuss Armenians; Britain To Support Any United States Move

LAUSANNE, Jan. 6.—This afternoon's session of the Near East peace conference sub-committee dealing with safeguards for Christians in Asia-Minor broke up in confusion when the Turks refused to discuss the question of creating a national homeland for Armenians. The Turks withdrew muttering threats. The allied delegates lodged formal protest with Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, against the actions of his colleagues.

TURKEY AND FRANCE PLAN SEPARATE PEACE
PARIS, Jan. 6.—Turkey and France have negotiated a separate peace treaty which will be made public and signed at once if the Near East conference at Lausanne collapses, it was learned in authoritative quarters today.

According to information from Turkish quarters, Ferid Bey, representing the Ankara government, has been in Paris for the past fortnight negotiating with M. Henri Franklin Bouillon and representatives of the French foreign office.

The pact is said now to be in final shape, awaiting only signatures.

BRITISH TO SUPPORT ANY U. S. MOVE, IS CLAIM

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Any move which the United States may make in the European reparations situation will have the strongest support of the British government, it was announced at the foreign office today.

Foreign office officials said that Great Britain was sympathetic towards the American policy of keeping aloof from the reparations deadlock until the French take decisive action.

Contrary to belief the cabinet was not summoned to meet today. Lausanne reports to the foreign office said that the Near East peace negotiations were proceeding favorably and had not been affected by the Paris rupture.

PAMPHLET OF '05 CHOSE FLOAT FUND BOOSTS GLENDALE MORE THAN $160

Ezra F. Parker Issues 3000 Real Appreciation Is Being Of Booklets; Oma A. Fish Expressed to Designer Of Prize Winners

One of Glendale's first boosters was Ezra F. Parker, who now maintains office space at 117 South Brand boulevard and who claims the distinction of being one of the pioneer real estate men in this field.

An illustrated descriptive pamphlet, setting forth the advantages of Glendale as a rural district, was issued by Mr. Parker in 1905 at his own expense. Although he distributed 3000 of them, the only one known to be still in existence is the property of Oma A. Fish of 204 Hawthorne street, who prizes it very highly.

When Mr. Parker came to Glendale from Los Angeles, the Pacific Electric, which was then known as the Huntington Electric Railway, was operating one train an hour during the day, over a one-track line which ended at Broadway.

Log Cabin Office
Before long Mr. Parker had acquired a two-story frame home on the north side of Lomita avenue, just east of Brand boulevard. This was one of the first modern homes here. For an office he had the log cabin building which still stands on its original corner.

The only store building in the vicinity was located on the southeast corner of Glendale and Wilcox avenues. This contained both the general store and the post-office. To get to it, Mr. Parker usually cut directly across the fields.

The high school was a yellow two-story frame building, located near the southeast corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway. The property now occupied by the Glendale theatre was then occupied by the wagon sheds in which the students left their equipages while they were at their lessons.

Raise Strawberries
The raising of strawberries was the principal industry in the Atwater tract, and hundreds of acres of them were under cultivation.

The climate, however, remained about the same, for the pamphlet remarks:
"The breeze from the great Pacific ocean fans the valley by day and at night the cool mountain air enables one to sleep soundly under blankets. Surrounded by mountains and hills Glendale possesses scenery that is not excelled, if equalled, in Southern California. The nearby mountains afford a never-ending source of enjoyment in their changing aspect and play of light and shadow."

Scouts' Budget Is Finally Worked Out
A tentative two years' budget for the Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America, for 1923-24 has been worked out by a special committee consisting of Peter L. Perry, Glendale; Emil F. Swanson, Eagle Rock; Leo L. Lang, Tujunga, and Dr. A. E. W. Yale, Burbank. The committee met Friday noon at the Glen Inn and at the conclusion of the conference they had made a complete survey of the needs of the Scout council for the next two years.

Commenting on the meeting, Mr. Perry, who is the chairman, stated that "the committee had decided to recommend a two-year budget, rather than for just one year as the expense for putting over one campaign for two years would not cost any more than it would for a single year."

The recommendations of the special committee will be made public at the annual meeting of the council scheduled for Friday evening, January 12, in the banquet hall of the Citizens' building.

TAKE TRIP BY AUTO

Mrs. Adelaide Imier, of 336 West Park avenue, motored to Fillmore yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waterfall of Berkeley. While there they visited friends and went through the high school, where Mrs. Imier's daughter, Miss Marjorie Imier, is a teacher. When they returned, in the afternoon, Miss Imier accompanied them, coming down to be present at the marriage tonight of her sorority friend, Miss Marian Reinicke of Pasadena.

HANDS OFF POLICY TO BE CONTINUED BY PRESIDENT

Harding Will Not Select American to Serve on Reparations Board

BULLETIN

LAUSANNE, Jan. 6.—A new crisis was precipitated in the Near East conference this afternoon when, at a plenary session, the Turks flatly rejected the allied protocol to replace the old Turkish capitulations. The capitulations are to safeguard the lives and interests of foreigners in Turkey.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
Copyright, 1923, International News Service
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The death sentence was passed today on the Robinson resolution requesting President Harding to appoint an American official member of the allied reparations commission.

A series of conferences participated in this morning by President Harding, Ambassador George Harvey, Secretary of State Hughes and Senator Lodge, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, resulted in a decision that "no good purpose" would be served by the present European crisis by the passage of the resolution or by the appointment of an American to the commission.

Die In Committee
The Robinson resolution will be allowed to die in committee and the embarrassments incident to its introduction and consideration checked.

The decision reached in the series of conferences that started at the White House early this morning and wound up at the state department is in line with the present policy of the American government not to make any further move toward injecting itself into the critical situation abroad unless and until France signifies a willingness to listen to "reason."

The senate's appetite for information concerning the exact status of the reparations situation and this country's activities in the present crisis will be appeased, however, as a result of today's conference. Secretary of State Hughes will prepare a memorandum for the confidential consideration of the foreign relations committee, setting forth in detail the events leading up to the present deadlock and to what extent the "unofficial" American observers now on the reparations commission have taken part in the proceedings.

What moves, if any, this government may now make before January 15, the date set for French occupation of the Ruhr, are left to future determination, so far as could be learned when the conference broke up today.

This government will make no move until Europe signifies a unanimous desire for American good offices seemed certain.

The position outlined by administration spokesmen was this: America has proffered her good offices. Europe, and particularly France, has turned them down. We can consistently do no more. The American offer is still standing. The next move is up to Europe.

Presbyterians Hold Devotional Services

The session of the Glendale Presbyterian church, composed of the pastors and ruling elders, are spending today in retreat in Pasadena. The meeting opened this morning at 10 o'clock with a devotional address by Dr. James Leishman of Pasadena.

The day's program, which will close at 4 o'clock this afternoon, has included prayer and discussion of local church work.

This is the first meeting of the kind ever held by the Glendale churchmen and they are hoping to make it a quarterly affair.

Tomorrow the church will observe the annual ever member social canvass, with fifty teams of two men each calling on every church member. It will not be a solicitation for funds but purely a social visit in the interest of the church fellowship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—"The insurance people have offered no reward and they are now claiming that I did not wear my jewels that night; that I wore imitations. Absurd!"

This development in the half million dollar gem robbery was disclosed today by Mrs. C. P. Hugo Schoellkopf, the victim of the cleverly planned and executed robbery, in the first statement she has made since the theft occurred.

Mr. Matsons announces that this will be far more interesting a banquet than the one held last year. A fine dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, after which some of the more prominent members will be called upon by President Paul Edmonds to make a few remarks. There will be special music.

OCCUPATION DATE SECRET; BELGIUM FORCES TO AID IN MOVEMENT

Advance Will Take Place in Middle of Next Week, is Belief of Germany

BULLETIN

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—French airplanes were active over the Rhineland today, indicating that troop movements are imminent. Some of them, after flying over the occupied zones, crossed to unoccupied German soil. One airplane hovered for a long time over Mannheim, the great Rhineland industrial city, which is the home of Hugo Stinnes, German financial magnate.

By FRANK E. MASON

For International News Service.
PARIS, Jan. 6.—Definite plans for extending French military occupation of German soil, including the exact date when orders shall be given to advance into the Ruhr, were discussed by Premier Poincare and his cabinet today.

The Belgians advised that all troop movements be held up until January 15, the date when the next gold indemnity payment from Germany is due, but M. Poincare insists that France act immediately.

There was a meeting of the inter-allied reparations commission at which M. Barthou of France, the chairman, asked that Germany be declared in default for coal and coke deliveries in 1922. Sir John Bradbury, British representative, was present, although England had threatened to withdraw from the commission.

Premier Poincare of Belgium departed for Brussels after fifteen minutes' intimate conversation with Premier Poincare.

M. Poincare seemed pleased with the result of his conversation. General Weygand, military adviser to the French delegation in the Near East peace conference, is returning to Paris from Lausanne. (Continued on Page 12)

FRENCH ARMY IN CONTROL ON RHINE

Americans and British Now Have Greatly Reduced Forces, is Report

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Declaring that as the United States has separate treaty of peace with Germany, "there is no good reason for maintaining American troops on the Rhine," Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon, urged in the senate today that the troops be brought home at once.

COLOGNE, Jan. 6.—Although there are American and British armies of occupation on the Rhine they have been so greatly reduced in size that the French army is in complete control of the whole German Rhineland with its vast chain of mines.

French troops are controlling railway traffic to make a troop movement into the Ruhr easy. While the Americans nominally control Coblenz (headquarters of the United States army of occupation) and Stars and Stripes are floating over the great mountain fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, it is merely a symbol. The French have taken over all the quarters given up by the Americans. There are only about 1500 American troops in Coblenz, against 5000 French in that zone. Everywhere throughout the Rhineland French domination is apparent.

The Germans in the Ruhr district are stolidly submissive, although anti-French hatred is growing steadily.

GROWTH OF EAGLE ROCK SHOWN IN P. O. DATA

Postmaster Skiff's Report Indicates Population of City Has Doubled

No clearer understanding of the growth of Eagle Rock during the past year can be obtained than by comparing the figures of Postmaster Skiff at the end of the fiscal year, December 31, 1922, with that of the year before; or any month of 1922 with the corresponding month of 1921, or the last six months of 1922 with the first six months of the same year. If the figures prepared by Mr. Skiff serve as a criterion of the growth of Eagle Rock's business and population, the city has doubled in growth during the past twelve months.

The figures submitted, were furnished the Eagle Rock Daily News by Mr. Skiff, and are a part of those embraced in his annual report to the postoffice department. They show that in all departments there has been a growth of business of nearly 100 per cent, and in some instances greater.

The postal sales from January 1, 1922, to June 30, 1922, were $5,481.86. From July 1, 1922, to December 31, 1922, $9,172.85, a clear gain of $3,690.99 over the first half of the year.

Big Stamp Sale
During 1922 the stamp sales amounted to $14,654.71. The parcels insured were 3,369. Money orders issued, 6,762. Parcels delivered by auto, 18,434. And 3,275 changes of addresses noted. A busy twelve months for the Eagle Rock postoffice force.

The month of December, ushering in the holidays, showed a remarkable increase in business in all departments. There were $3,711.55 in postal sales, as compared with $1,958.51 for the year 1921. There were 8,125 parcels delivered by auto as against 5,460 for the year before. A big increase in number and an average of 225 deliveries a day, or practically a parcel to one out of every twenty inhabitants per week-day of the month. During this same period 295 letters were registered as compared with 142 for the same month last year. Two thousand and twelve parcels were insured and 1086 during the same month in 1921.

Stocks, Markets

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The stock market showed increased weakness in the late dealings today, nearly all of the leading issues being in large supply. Final prices showed net losses of from 1 to 3 points in the active issues. United States Steel yielded to 106½ and Baldwin had a sharp break to 132½. The motor issues were in big supply. Studebaker and Chandler falling over 2 points. Rail issues were weak. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were weak.

Stock sales today 537,700 shares; bonds, $6,551,000. For the week stock sales were 4,631,400 shares; bonds, $55,094,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Bearish tendencies featured the grain markets today. May wheat, leading the grains downward, early in the session, made a new lead on the present decline. Foreign news was construed as bearish. Another factor was a report that several million bushels of corn were headed toward Chicago and would be dumped on the market next week.

Wheat closed ½¢ lower; corn ¼¢ down, and oats ¼¢ off. Provisions finished steady on lard, easier on short ribs.

Tennessee Jurist Gets Appointment

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—Judge Edward T. Sanford of Knoxville, Tenn., will be appointed to the Supreme court bench in the place of Justice Pitney, resigned, according to reliable reports here today.

WOMEN TO HOLD BENEFIT AUCTION

Tuesday Afternoon Club to Hold Charity Affair on January 22

With the success of the recent society circus as an inspiration, the Tuesday Afternoon club members are now busily planning a rummage sale and auction as the next big benefit affair to augment the building fund for the new club house. The affair is to be held the week of January 22 in the new Jensen Palace Grand shops on North Brand boulevard where the club has been given headquarters through the courtesy of Mr. Jensen.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the ways and means committee, is in charge of the benefit and said, and her committee met on Thursday and made detailed preliminary plans. The rummage sale is to begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue all day. In the evening T. Kuranaga of the Japan Art and Tea store will serve as auctioneer.

Give Away Turkey

In arranging for the rummage sale, Mrs. Montgomery has arranged her committee as follows: Mrs. Pierson Hanning, old clothes; Mrs. Ray J. Phillips, furniture; Mrs. W. H. Boothby, house furnishings and crockery; Mrs. Albert Perry, groceries and canned fruit; Mrs. F. H. Waller, books and pictures; Mrs. Peter Dietrich, musical instruments and records; Mrs. C. L. Seattle Auto Firm Has Costly Blaze

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 6.—Automobile row estimated $100,000 as the loss sustained last night by the Mitchell, Lewis and Staver company in a spectacular fire which gutted the two upper floors of a four-story building. New automobiles and stores accessories were damaged to the extent of $75,000, it was estimated. Nearly 30,000 persons crowded about the blazing structure, necessitating heroic efforts by electric company linemen to snap high voltage power wires.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Exchange of Governors One Week In Discard Way to Secure Ideas Building Barometer

By Gil A. Cowan

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 6.—With Governor William D. Stephens retiring from office of chief executive of the great state of California Monday and Friend William Richardson stepping into the place with a nice collection of "last minute appointments" as a legacy, there is little doubt in Sacramento today as to what and where things are going to happen soon.

Also, the legislature is going to have a good time, "all of its own," in doing some of the things Friend Richardson has been advocating for years. More than ordinary conviction must be sought in the case of some of the members of the house and senate, but by playing together all will get great deal more and there is no doubt but what a fruitful session is going to result.

One week of the New Year has gone. What have you accomplished? About 2 per cent of the available time in 1922 for you to do things has gone a-glimmering. Was it a profitable week, or not? Likely you started out with a headache Tuesday morning. Elmer over-ate, stayed out late or drank something that didn't agree with you or anyone else.

Anyway, Tuesday was the blinks, Wednesday the jinks, Thursday was the same and today it was the slinks into an easy chair and contemplate what's in this column.

To be truthful, there is little for the person who will do something if you are going to enjoy reading this or any other column. It is the active mind, the creative mind, the eyes that see behind the curtains, that get the benefit of inspiration.

One way for a person to awaken to the possibilities of his own sphere is to get a motor car and see the surrounding countryside. That will give you something to think about.

Drive out into the country and see how the dairies there are now supplying milk and butter to the cities. See the unfarmed acres. Learn what the rancher is getting for his produce. Hear what the roadside wanderer has to say about things.

And you will be driving back home brimful of ideas. Chances are you will want to start a brick yard, creamery, farm a few acres or do something else all at once—then, realizing you cannot settle back to make something more of that which you have, whether it is a job or a business.

Are you watching the building barometer in Glendale already? Every year it starts at nothing and goes higher than it did before. Through summer's sun and winter's rain the building figure keeps on growing and with a big school building program, several other buildings planned, and many homes and stores to be erected, there is no reason why this year's figure should not go a-glimmering.

Glendale is the champion little "go getter" of the west when it comes to population, building and such!

Keep 'er going, Jimes.

The ship subsidy bill has been back in the senate of the United States for three days past demanding the attention due it by the senators representing the best interests of America.

The American flag must be kept on the high seas and predominate in American ports. And the only way it can be done is to have legislation favoring the upbuilding of a merchant marine.

If the Jones shipping bill is not right, let it be amended and passed. If it is fitting and proper to subsidize American bottoms, let the senators quit playing with the "blobs" for a minute and pass the measure.

Respectfully the people of this country ask to some results from that conglomerate mass of partisan, provincial representatives which is fast becoming unpopular with too many monkeywrenches in the machinery.

It is time that Harding wielded a whip the way the late T. R. used the big stick, don't you think?

SOCIAL EVENTS

Surprise Party

Mrs. John W. Cotton of 1137 San Rafael avenue was honored last night with a surprise party by the members of the voluntary choir of the Casa Verdugo church, to whom she has given so much of her interest and time, in directing their various activities for several years. The word had been relayed to Mr. Cotton, and Mrs. Cotton was beginning to wonder why her husband would not hurry with her to the church for the regular choir practice hour, when the guests arrived, having assembled first at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Drake, 1112 Melrose. The surprise was complete. A merry evening of games and music closed with serving elaborate refreshments, which had been brought by the self-invited guests.

As a last surprise of the evening the guest of honor was the recipient of a handsome gold bar pin, set with pearls, as a little token of the great appreciation of her splendid voluntary assistance to their organization. W. F. Blaikie made a clever presentation speech, to which Mrs. Cotton responded with feeling and graciousness, although a little overcome for a moment.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Durrent, Mrs. F. R. Bruner and Lucile Bruner, Mrs. Waldo Winger, Miss Vera Sasse, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Blaikie, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Lynn, Mrs. Riffing, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Drake, Misses Goldie and Adele Drake, Mrs. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones and daughter Martha, Miss Gladys Sharpe, Rev. J. C. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Cotton, Miss Dorothy Cotton and their house guest, Miss Mary Stone.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion auxiliary will hold initiation and installation of officers Monday night, January 8, at 7:30 o'clock, sharp. Everyone is urged to be prompt, as Mrs. Marks, national vice-president of the auxiliary, who will perform the installation ceremonies, must leave at 9 o'clock for Pasadena, where she has a similar position to fill.

After installation, there will be a short program. Mrs. E. T. Hayward will render a piano solo, "Arabian Night," by Albert Mendenberg, and Mrs. A. G. Mendenberg will sing. Refreshments will be served.

Guests will be welcomed from Santa Monica, Sawtelle, Compton and Eagle Rock.

Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer will receive money and seals for the California hut drive recently completed.

Junior Music Club

A meeting of the Junior Music club is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, in the night of January 13, with Mrs. Frankie Webb, at the home of H. F. Webb, 303 North Louise street. Miss Gertrude Champlin is preparing a very interesting program.

Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, vice president of the Senior Music club, states that a great deal of talent is being displayed by the junior organization and that plans are being made by Miss Gertrude Heldman, president, for the public presentation of an operetta some time this winter.

Section Meetings

Two sections of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, January 8, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Verity, 511 West Broadway—Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, curator, and the legislative section, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, curator.

Mrs. P. S. McNutt will lead the parliamentary law drill.

All members of the club interested are invited to attend.

Mrs. Toll Hostess

Mrs. Charles H. Toll was hostess yesterday at one of the most enjoyable meetings Chapter B. A. P. B. O. has had since the beginning of activities after the summer vacation.

The morning hour was devoted to a business meeting, beginning at 10:30 o'clock and presided over by Mrs. Walter Stamps. At noon a three course luncheon was served by the hostesses of the day, Mesdames Toll, Pauline Russell and Elizabeth Downing.

An interesting part of the afternoon program was the reading of the fifth chapter in the serial story being written by members of the chapter. Mrs. Effie Preston read the new chapter and those who have been following the development of the story are unanimous in the opinion of its cleverness and interest.

During the afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Brown read a paper on "American Composers" and Miss Elizabeth Mottern and Mrs. Edith Arnold, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Ripley, entertained with vocal duets and solos.

Mrs. Ripley also gave two piano numbers, "Novelette" (Cole), and "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell).

Another pleasing number was a group of saxophone solos by Gerald Toll, son of the hostess. He was accompanied by Mrs. Eva Cunningham.

Dinner Party

Mrs. O. L. Kilborn and daughter, Miss Laura Wilford Brown, of 217 West Lomita avenue, were hostesses Friday night at a pleasant dinner party in compliment to Arthur W. Glade, who is spending a few weeks in Glendale. The table was centered with hand-some crystal candelabra, with charming effect. Dark red roses and jonquills were used in the tiping rooms.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Glade, Miss Betty Glade, Miss Fae Denman, Messrs. Norvell and Lett Etings, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Brown, Faris Brown, O. L. Kilborn and the hostesses. The Messrs. Etings, who are from Grand Island, Nebraska, are cousins of Mr. Glade, and have been guests of the family during the holidays.

GERMANY DESIRES NEW INSTITUTION 'MAN LIKE FORD' IS GROWING FAST

Minister of Finance Says Nation's Hope Rests on Financial Adviser

By S. D. WEYHER
For International News Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—Germany would welcome John D. Rockefeller or Henry Ford as financial adviser or sort of "economic dictator" to show the government how to lift the nation from its present industrial chaos, it was declared here today by the highest possible authority—Minister of Finance Andreas Hermes.

Herr Hermes, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, said Germany was exploring every avenue in an effort to bring about a satisfactory agreement of the problems which confront them, chiefly arising from uncertainty over reparations.

"You in America have some very excellent men well fitted to take the European economic crisis in hand," said Dr. Hermes. "We would welcome nothing more heartily than that the United States, whose impartiality we trust absolutely, carried out the plan that I have been suggesting, namely, appoint a big man to act in an advisory capacity to the government."

Herbert Hoover Favored
"The best man, in my opinion, of course, would be Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, at Washington. With his organizing genius, his foresight and his deep understanding of economic problems, he could give tremendous aid. But if Mr. Hoover does not want it, why not men like John D. Rockefeller or Henry Ford, men noted throughout the world for their business ability? Mind you, I am not saying this as a plea nor even as a suggestion to your government. But I do want to emphasize that Germany would be mightily pleased and grateful if the United States would take the dilemma by the horns."

"Certainly Germany would be most glad to open all her books, answer all questions and give all facilities to enable a clear, thorough survey of the situation. We have nothing to conceal. On the contrary, we welcome the most searching, unbiased investigation of our books."

Minister Hermes dwelt upon the difficulties of the German government's position, both internally and externally.

Sees Growing Menace
"Owing to Germany's failure to get relief," he declared, "and owing to the terrible economic situation which has reached a point bordering upon absolute debacle, a pernicious menace is raising its head in Germany, namely an ever-growing demand on the part of the rank and file that we tear up the treaty of Versailles and declare to the world that we have done our utmost but have reached the end of our rope, that we have been bled white and cannot pay another penny. I say this is a pernicious menace, because, while it is quite comprehensible from a sentimental viewpoint, it is dead wrong from the standpoint of right."

"I have fought this movement along with my colleagues ever since taking office."

Community Bank in South Part of City Reports Steady Increase

The Community Savings & Commercial bank of 1728 South San Fernando road is the newest financial institution entered in the local field.

W. W. Lee, president of this bank, and H. J. Wellman, its cashier, are observing the growth of this institution with personal pride. They state that it has received over $50,000 in individual commercial deposits already. This is in addition to $8,827 deposited in its savings department by residents who are going to Southern Glendale from all parts of the city in order to make deposits.

Securities of this bank are valued at over $50,000. It has $28,000 worth of state, county and municipal funds in its custody.

A company of friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Holloway will reside in Hollywood.

WHAT'S REAL?

Why is it that when someone who has been in our previous intercourse with him an agreeable, accommodating, friendly person suddenly shows some mean trait, we straightaway say:

"That's what he's really like."

Why is it that when someone who has always said nice things to us about ourselves in a flash of temper says some hateful, unkind thing that we say:

"That's what he or she really thinks of us."

Why is it that when anyone writes a story that is full of sordidness and meanness and tragedy, that has in it all the depressing elements and none of the high lights of life, that story is called realism.

Is One More Real Than the Other?

Is the tragedy of life any more real than the comedy?

Is the sordidness any more real than the beauty?

Is the mean trait that we catch a glimpse of any more the real person than the kindly ones we have seen over and over again.

Is the unkind thing our friend says any more what he really thinks of us than the kind things?

Not a bit of it!

And that's the answer not to one of those questions but to all of them.

Indeed, if you stop to think of it, what anyone says in a flash of temper is less apt to be what he really thinks than what he says when in his normal state and not excited and up in the air.

But After the Storm—

I think one of the hardest things married folks have to do is to get a sense of proportion about all such things. The courtship has been a state of unnatural felicity. Each has shown all his most admirable qualities, and has been acutely aware of the other's good qualities. With marriage and the strain of daily living together it is inevitable that each should show his faults and discover (and show that he discovers) the other's faults. The first quarrel, or at least the first lack of harmony of purpose and opinion (I put that in for the people who insist they never quarrel) must inevitably arrive. Unlovely traits are sure to appear and unkind things to be said. But after the storm will come sunshine again and no great harm need be done if each sees things in their proper proportions.

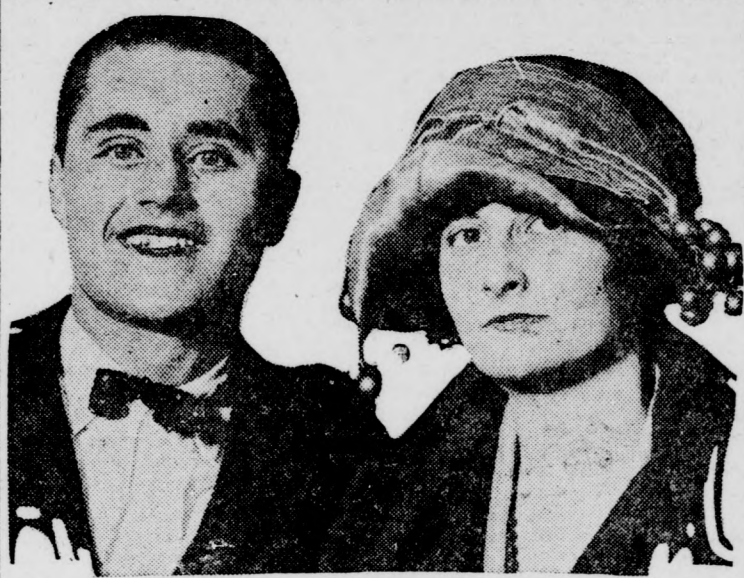

Let's Not

But if each one is going to say of the ugly trait or the unkind words "That's what he really is like, all the rest is just pretense," or "That's what he really thinks of me. The rest is just put on," much harm will be done.

On the whole, I think this is more a feminine than a masculine trait. I suspect this is partly because husbands are more apt to take the leash off their temper, and partly because women, having more time to think, are more apt to be morbid.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

B. R.—Younger children who have whooping cough do not always have the typical whoop. The paroxysmal cough with the spitting up of mucus and sometimes vomiting afterwards, are the characteristics of whooping cough always present.

After they vomit they should always have a nourishing milk. The reason why whooping cough lasts so long many times is because of the lack of nourishment through the frequent vomiting.

Send for the address of the whooping cough binder that I spoke of, or apply a snug fitting binder around their abdomens. It helps to support them.

M. M.—We have an article on foods during pregnancy and the nursing period, also one on constipation which you can have. We also have a list of books with advice to young mothers. Your other questions will be answered by your personal physician. Your question, should a pregnant woman reduce? I shall answer with the following letter:

"Dear Doctor:

"Following your directions in our paper I took off 17 pounds of superfluous fat during pregnancy with a perfectly healthy but small baby as a result, and a very easy birth. Thanks to you! I am still about eight pounds overweight, but do not know how to go about it and still keep my milk for my baby up to standard—

Gratefully—Mrs. S."

You can see that this mother reduced with beneficial results during pregnancy. From my experience I can say that if one is overweight it is often even more beneficial to reduce during pregnancy than at other times.

Of course during pregnancy you have a double responsibility to get the needed elements in your foods. You should be very careful.

ful to drink plenty of skim milk at least a quart, I should say. That is only 320 calories—and the vegetables and fruits and whole wheat breads and enough protein, etc. The foods that make excess fat during pregnancy and nursing are not the foods that contribute to the strength and growth of the baby, nor to the strength and worth of the milk, so you can safely cut down on those.

It is really harmful for a woman to eat so much during pregnancy and nursing that she gets much more serious than the fat. Fifteen pounds gained in weight, if she is normal weight during pregnancy, will allow for the weight of the baby and the water and the afterbirth. During nursing it is not necessary to gain at all. In fact, usually the fatter a nursing mother gets, the thinner her milk gets.

B.—One of the chief causes of head noises is a chronic catarrhal condition of the middle ear—the cavity which contains the tiny ear bones, situated back of the ear drum—or in the eustachian tube, the tube that connects the middle ear with the throat. Sometimes drugs like alcohol and quinine will cause them. Sometimes high blood pressure will cause them. The catarrh is usually an extension of the catarrhal condition of the nose and throat.

The treatment of course would be the treatment of the cause. We have an article on high blood pressure which you can have. For your ears you would have to consult a specialist. Any local condition may be an expression of a general condition, so look to your general health.

Monday—Hyperacidity.

THEATRES

The Glendale

Five big acts of delightful vaudeville are booked for the Glendale theatre today. Williams and Lee Duo, "Comedy Acrobats," present a unique turn and carry their own scenery to stage it. Benton and Clarke frolic in their skit, "The Fashion Plate Pair." John McGinn is a "Monologist and a Songologist" with a distinctive line of chatter. Wilbur and Spencer Sisters have a comedy, novelty jumping turn that is a gem. And the Stratford Comedy Four round out a very pleasing program with their refreshing nonsense.

The picture feature is "Caught Bluffing," with Frank Mayo in the lead, supported by Edna Murphy, Wallace MacDonald and "But" Durham.

Preparing Drills For Offset Wells

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Steps looking toward the drilling of more offset wells on "gas reserve No. 1," in the California naval reserve oil fields, to prevent draining of the field by wells just outside the reserve, are now being taken, Secretary of the Navy Denby announced recently.

Extensions of the contract with the Pan-American Petroleum and Transportation company, which has leased the reserve from the government, are being arranged for this purpose, Mr. Denby said. According to the secretary, it is in conformity with the principles of the original contract, which granted to this company provisional rights to further leases in naval reserve No. 1.

The government also retains the right to require the company to drill additional wells as offsets to any on adjoining land, wherever such may be required in the future.

The West Side gas reserve No. 1 is to be retained as an under-

The T. D. & L.

A complete change of program is at the T. D. & L. theatre today, and the featured attraction is Anita Stewart in that dramatic photoplay, "A Question of Honor." It is a truly remarkable picture, one that entertains and thrills with romance and heart throbs, and at the same time offers food for thought.

Sunday the T. D. & L. theatre will offer Lon Chaney in "Shadows," one of his greatest characterizations, an epic of the screen.

And starting next Tuesday comes that gorgeous Marion Davies film, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," which has sent the press of the whole country into paeans of praise.

BEAUTY CHATS

WHY SOME ARE FAT

Perhaps I should call this, "Why some women seem fat." For I know several very nice women who weigh just about what they should—perhaps a wee trifle too much, but not more than a few pounds—who look simply fat and lumpy and unattractive as to figure.

Why?

I know, too, a few women who weigh a great deal, but who manage somehow to conceal the fact and to attain dignity and even grace in spite of very solid flesh.

Again, why?

The way they dress, the way they carry themselves—that's the answer.

If you are short, you must stay slim, pounds below what the health scales tell you is "normal"—health scales are always generous in the matter of pounds. If you're tall, you can carry a great deal of flesh, you simply become a large woman then, but a majestically large one.

If you are short and stout, you must be a genius in the matter of dress. Few things will look well on you, you must try and try, until you find the loose-waisted, dark-colored, straight-line dresses that are the only things you can wear without seeming too chubby. If you are tall you have wider choice in the matter of dress and color.

But in no case, if you tend to flesh, can you wear light colors, tight dresses, exaggerated styles, much trimming, lines cutting across the figure, or light waists with dark skirts. The loose chemise dress, which still retains its vogue, is the best general choice for all.

Worried Mother—If the baby's scalp seems very dry and tight over its head, rub it every day with the finger tips dipped in olive oil. Do not wash his head each day when you bathe him, you'll dry the scalp still more. The gentle vibration of your finger will loosen the skin so the blood can circulate more readily, and the oil itself is very nourishing. You'll be rewarded in a short time by seeing a healthy growth of fluffy hair appear.

Quentin—Being clean and well groomed isn't in the least effeminate. If the other High School boys make fun of you for well-kept nails and such little niceties, I was really going to say decency of dress, then you can only feel superior and not mind! Black ridges across the nails, jaggy bits of skin, soiled hands—these are not the marks of manliness!

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, the stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Sees Greater U. S. Trade With Japan

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 6.—Trade possibilities between the United States and Japan are just beginning to be realized, according to I. Suzuki, Japan's foremost steamship operator.

He predicts a great increase in trans-Pacific traffic between America and the Japanese Empire during the coming years.

Suzuki visiting America for the first time in twenty-five years, is amazed at changes.

"Everywhere everything has changed," Suzuki declared, speaking through the interpreter. "New York and Chicago are different cities, with streets, automobiles instead of horses, and skyscrapers."

Suzuki said Japan had passed the after-war depression and pointed out facts indicating a return to normal conditions.

"Building has started again in Japan, which means we can take more American lumber. Our forests are becoming exhausted. Factories are being built to some extent. We are importing more and more foodstuffs from this great country every year."

"The United States is bound to participate in Japan's growing commerce. My country feels much more friendly to America as time goes on."

Suzuki, in company with his party, spent several months traveling in Europe and Asia. He also visited many American ports. Suzuki is known as one of Japan's leading capitalists. He is the son of Yoni Suzuki, celebrated Japanese woman, said to be the wealthiest woman in the Mikado's domain. She is 72 years of age and conducts her own business affairs.

Radio Stealing Is Dangerous Practice

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Jan. 6.—"Radio thieves"—enthusiastic youngsters who watch for a chance to steal a little wire from someone's radio outfit—have been warned by K. A. "Aside from the wrong in stealing," said Duerk, "boys often risk their lives while stealing fifty cents' worth of wire." He said he narrowly averted

"Signs of the Times in Prophecy"

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die"—JUDGE RUTHERFORD

Not in a hundred years, or since the French Revolution and the wars of Napoleon, has the world seen a like period . . . and that period is outclassed by the magnitude of the issues now involved.

Prophetic utterances of both the Old and New Testament take on a new meaning . . . Certain it is that a new awakening in Prophetic study is here. On all sides men are asking concerning the relation of Bible Prophecy to the present turmoil and unrest.

In this momentous lecture Mr. Stark will bring positive proof, by linking Bible prophecies with present-day events, that the Kingdom of Messiah will soon completely supplant the existing rulership of earth and, because of this fact, there are millions now living who will actually never go into the grave. The lecture is not a dry discussion of theology, nor an attempt to convert you to some new, fanatical religion, but it is a glorious proclamation of "this Gospel of the Kingdom" which Jesus said must be preached in all the world for a witness before the end comes.

You will be thrilled—your heart will rejoice, and you will leave the Auditorium with that which money cannot buy—a clear insight into the conditions confronting the world today and of the glorious outcome.

Civil War Veteran Digs His Own Grave

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Daniel E. Brown, Civil War veteran, wanted a grave that "would fit."

So he dug it himself, in spite of his 80-odd years, relatives found to their surprise when they accompanied his body to the Lowville cemetery.

Brown first measured himself, then went to the undertaker's and selected a casket, measured that and next dug his grave, lining it with three-inch concrete. Brown fitted a five-section concrete cover to the vault, and the funeral cortege found a windlass thoughtfully in place beside the grave, left by Brown to aid the bearers.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

TAX ON GASOLINE BEING PROPOSED

Money Raising Method to Be Considered at State
Legislative Meets

The legislatures of many states meet at the beginning of the year and practically all of them will enact new motor regulation laws. Many of them will follow the lead of California, which is admitted to have one of the best set of rules in the country.

The principal parts of the legislative program, aside from direct motor vehicle laws, will be a plan to tax gasoline in California," says Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the California Automobile Trade Association.

"A tax on gasoline is a 'painless' tax because it is so easily collected, and there is always the temptation on the part of the legislators to use this as a means of raising money for the general funds of the state.

"Use It On Roads
"There will be no opposition to a tax on gasoline in California if the motorists of the state, and that includes practically everybody in California, are assured that the money so raised will be used for road improvements and nothing else.

"Automobile Associations and civic organizations will be boosting for such a tax if they can be assured that the roads will get the funds and that the money will not go into the general fund of the state.

"Many states of the Union now have gasoline taxes and many of the taxes were first levied for roads only, then other legislatures increased the tax and took the money for purposes other than road building.

"The state needs money for road work, and the people who use the roads would be more than willing to pay for them by a gasoline tax, if they could be certain that the money would be used for that purpose and no other."

March 2 Last Day To Obtain Plates

Automobile owners who fail to apply for their 1923 license plates before March 2 will be considered delinquent and forced to pay 25 per cent more for their plates, it is announced. The first of the new plates, black and white in design, will be issued from the Los Angeles division of the vehicle department Jan. 15.—The first number issued here will be 400-001. About 246,000 plates will be issued in this district, it is estimated.

Automobile Great Prosperity Helper Announces C. of C.

EMPLOYMENT for 2,250,000 people is provided by the prosperity of the automobile business, according to a statement credited to Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The organization acts as a central clearing house for figures and information relative to the automotive industry and is a recognized authority in trade circles.

In addition to the 200,000 men working in the automobile plants, and in addition to the hundreds of thousands of professional chauffeurs and drivers and of retail garage employees, there are about 250,000 accessory factory workers, 150,000 tire dealers and salesmen, and thousands more in allied retail trades, the statement points out.

There are 12,000 consolidated schools in the United States, says the U. S. Bureau of Education, most of which are using motor busses to transport children. There are still 194,000 rural schools not yet consolidated.

AUTO PROVES BIG AID TO WORKERS

Motor Car Helps People to Escape High Rents, so
Figures Show

How many people in the United States rely upon motor cars to carry them to and from work every day in the week?

A survey now being made by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to determine these facts has already brought to light some interesting figures.

Thus far it has been shown that in 135,000 instances in sixty cities throughout the country the motor car has been used as a vehicle of relief from high city rentals. This number of car owners who have moved from cities to the suburbs are depending solely upon their cars for transportation between their work and their homes.

The sixty cities from which reports have been received include only three of the chief cities of the country—Detroit, Cleveland and Baltimore. The population of the cities already reporting is less than eight million. If the same ratio is maintained throughout the rest of the United States, according to estimates by the N. A. C. C., not less than 500,000 automobiles have been used during the past three years in the fight against high rents.

NEW YORK OPENS HUGE AUTO SHOW

Index of What Buyers Will Find; Body Builders
Plan Exhibition

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The New York automobile show, which is held at the Grand Central Palace under the auspices of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, representative of the manufacturers, will be formally opened today.

Although it has become the custom of at least a part of the industry to announce changes in car models or prices twice a year—in January and in August—the New York show has become the recognized index of what buyers will find for their choice during the most of the year.

This year the show will close on Saturday, January 13. Then the exhibitors will begin to move their caravans westward to Chicago for the opening of the annual manufacturers' show at the Coliseum on January 27. This is practically identical with the New York show and serves the purpose of bringing it nearer to western dealers and buyers. The Chicago affair closes February 3.

Body Builders' Exhibit
In New York the Automobile Body Builders' association will hold their annual display at the Twelfth Regiment Armory while the larger event is in progress at the Palace. These dates are January 8 to 12.

During the Chicago show the annual automobile salon will be held at the Drake hotel, the opening and closing dates being the same as those of the show.

After then until late in March, automobile shows will be held in large and small cities throughout the country in charge of dealers.

Other Displays Planned
Dates of a few of the subsequent exhibitions are:

February 3-10, Minneapolis, auspices Minneapolis Auto Trade association.

February 24-March 3, Brooklyn, auspices Brooklyn Motor Vehicle Dealers' association.

February 26-March 3, Syracuse, auspices Syracuse Automobile Dealers' association.

DEALERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Business Methods to Be Discussed at Gathering
In City of Chicago

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—Business administration and other subjects of exceptional interest to automobile business men will comprise the program for the 1923 sixth annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers' Association in Chicago January 27 to 30, inclusive. Through the year 1922 the National Automobile Dealers' Association has had a corps of field men developing the one of a thousand program.

These field men have covered the entire United States in a close and thorough campaign that has given them contact with the dealers in a way that has never before been developed by any factory, by the N. A. D. A. or any other agency in the automobile industry. Through this contact the executives of the N. A. D. A. have gathered a vast fund of information. It has provided a clear picture of "What the automobile dealer is thinking about."

Convention Program
On the basis of the information thus obtained the program of the N. A. D. A. convention has been built. The program for this 1923 meeting will be devoted entirely to the subjects which the automobile dealer has said were his most troublesome problems today. These can be largely classed under four major subjects dealing primarily and directly with merchandising.

It is said that the automobile business in its first ten-year period was in the engineering or mechanical period; its second ten-year period was the production period in which the manufacturers steadily applied themselves to expanding factory capacities and quantity production; the third ten-year period began about 1920 and is the merchandising period.

See Many Changes
Two years of the merchandising era have passed and leading manufacturers are beginning to place merchandising men in charge of factory distribution.

Conditions throughout the United States as reflected by the close contact established this year by the N. A. D. A. with the automobile merchant, indicate that 1923 will be a year in which many changes must be made in the methods of merchandising. Some suggestion of these changes will be contained in the program of the January convention.

'Tin Can' Tourists To Be Taxed Extra

For the convenience of "tin-can" tourists, a bill is now pending before Congress, providing a special tax on automobiles which are engaged in interstate travel. This Federal license tag would be issued annually, and attached to the regular State tag. It would take the place of all special registrations required by various States. The price would be 40 cents per horsepower, with a minimum of $5 on any vehicle. Ninety per cent of this would go into the Federal Treasury.

Other Oil Concerns Cut Down to 20 Cts.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Following the lead of the Standard Oil company of California, all the leading oil distributing companies in Los Angeles have reduced the price of gasoline 2 cents, bringing the retail price to 20 cents in and near the city. The reduction, since September, amounts to 3 cents a gallon, a cut of 1 cent having been made in October.

Bus Takes Children To Sunday Schools

In parts of Ohio, regularly organized motor bus lines are operated to transport people to Sunday school in rural communities. The cars are engaged by the churches at the same rate as paid by rural schools.

IGNITION TROUBLES

Ignition sometimes fails because of the battery; other reasons are burned-out or wet coils. Ignition points pitted or stuck, motor burned out, fouled plugs or broken porcelain, loose connections somewhere or an out-and-out break in the wire.

FOR PROPER COOLING

To secure efficient cooling it is necessary that the water be kept circulating freely through the cooling system and that the air be kept flowing through the radiator.

PRICE FIXING IS LAID TO OIL MEN

Senate Committee Probing Industry; Report to Be Issued Soon

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Revelations of a startling nature, specifically charging arbitrary and concerted price fixing by the leading gasoline and oil producers of the country, will be set forth in the report of the special senate committee investigating the oil industry, it is learned today.

The committee's report and recommendations probably will be made public early in February. Following completion of the exhaustive inquiry of gasoline and oil prices, taking of testimony and conclusions late this month, after examination of officials and experts from America's richest oil concerns.

Since early last summer, the committee has been probing the entire oil industry. The prices of gasoline and refined oil products have been traced from the time the oil first came out of the ground until the finished materials were sold to the general public.

In all this work, some of the fundamental facts already have been definitely established by the witnesses before the committee, it was declared today by committee members. These are:

Price Making Told
That the price of oil and subsequently gasoline and refined products, is determined in what is known as the mid-continental field of the United States. This embraces the rich southwest oil regions. Most of the oil in the mid-continent field is controlled by a comparatively small number of companies, by means of subsidiary firms, or closely interlocking directorates.

When the price in the mid-continent fields raised or lowered, the change is reflected similarly in every section of the country, and the advance or decrease is virtually the same in every oil and gasoline distributing company.

Moreover, the frequent price alterations have been in defiance of all economic laws of supply and demand, it was said today by Gilbert Rowe, attorney for the committee.

HIT BY AUTO; FINED

For "getting his" by an automobile, William Berwick of Kenmore, Ohio, was fined $5 and costs. It was found that Berwick caused the accident, and the driver was exonerated.

Motorists in Southern California use more than 4,000,000 road maps a year.

INSTRUCTIONS TO GUIDE MOTORIST

What You Must Do When
You Wish to Secure
1923 License Plates

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6.—Charles J. Chenn, director of the State Motor Vehicle department, has issued instructions to guide the motorists of California in applying for their 1923 licenses. His list of instructions follow:

See to it now that you have a 1922 certificate of registration. If you have not, apply to the department with the change of address noted thereon for correction.

If your certificate is illegible, send it to the department and you will receive a new one.

If there is a legal owner on the certificate whose claim has been satisfied, it will be necessary to have the legal owner sign as same on the back of the certificate to release his claim.

Second-Hand Vehicle

If a second-hand motor vehicle has been purchased, have a transfer made in the department at once and secure a certificate in your name.

If you have changed or altered the style of your vehicle to a different type, get a dismantling form from the sheriff, police or other peace official and mail it to the department with your certificate and a new certificate will be issued.

Non-resident owners whose permit to operate in this state has expired, must apply at once for a California license.

All of this can be attended to at the branch offices in San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno, Los Angeles or San Diego or at the Sacramento office.

All persons who operate a motor vehicle must have an operator's license in their possession.

Michigan Scene of Heavy Production

Figures recently compiled by a Detroit factory show that today there are eighty-two passenger car manufacturers in the country and fifty-one truck makers. Of this number there are only thirty passenger car plants which are classed by the manufacturers as being in the major industrial field, while the other fifty-two, mostly assembled cars, show but a slight volume of business during the boom months of this year. Of this total more than fifty cars and trucks are made in Detroit and more than sixty in Michigan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Auto license plates in California for 1923 are studies in black and white. The new plates, just received by the state motor vehicle department, have white numerals on a black ground.

The inscription "Cal. 1923" appears in the center of the plate with the numbers on either side.

64,864 Autos Tour Yellowstone Park

During the Yellowstone Park season recently closed 64,864 visitors reached the park by motor, as compared with 33,358 by rail. No fewer than 18,379 incoming automobiles and motorcycles passed through the park gates. Every State in the Union was represented by those who motored to the park.

E. B. Sutton, of the Glendale Nash Sales, local Nash distributor, announces that he has secured the services of F. O. Hickman, well known southern California automobile salesman. Mr. Hickman was formerly associated with the Packer Auto Company. He became identified with the Nash agency January 1.

In his new position, that of salesman, Mr. Hickman will have unlimited fields in which to work and unlimited friends who will wish him good luck, Mr. Sutton stated.

Coincident with the announcement of his change in positions, he stated yesterday that he has purchased a home at 537 Porter street, where he and his family now reside.

Mr. Hickman says he has unbounded faith in the future of Glendale, both from a business standpoint and as a city of homes, and he asserts he is perfectly satisfied to remain here and sell Nash cars the rest of his days.

NEWEST BATTERY SYSTEM IN CITY

Parker & Black Install
New Twenty-four Hour
Charging System

Installation of a twenty-four hour battery charging service at their plant, 113 West Harvard street, is announced by Parker & Black. The new system is made possible by the establishment of a constant potential battery charging outfit, which cost in the neighborhood of $1000.

Heretofore, it required from forty-eight to ninety-six hours to recharge batteries. The new outfit will practically cut this time in half. This will not only save time, but will mean a great saving in battery renting charges, Messrs. Parker & Black explain.

They state also that the new method of charging batteries is not absolutely new, as all the big electrical works in Los Angeles are operating them with great success. The system has also been used on train headlights for more than ten years, they state.

H. M. Parker, of the local firm, says the battery charger is positively the greatest invention of its kind ever placed on the market. He says he's glad to place it at the disposal of his Glendale trade.

Emil Cone, the French exponent of auto-suggestion, hasn't anything on Fred S. Hill, who conducts a garage at 124 South Orange street. Mr. Cone, it is said, gives one the key to optimism. Mr. Hill already possesses it. At least a statement he made yesterday implied as much.

"I, for one in Glendale, expect to do the greatest business I have ever enjoyed during 1923."

"In addition to being fortunate in having a large, new garage building, I am better equipped with the machinery to facilitate turning out work."

"And, at the rate that Glendale is growing, I confidently expect that business will be from twenty-five to thirty per cent greater this year than last."

Consequently, Mr. Hill is forever remarking: "Business is getting better and better." And his friends say his business is.

STAR CAR MOTOR SENSIBLE DESIGN

Local Dealer Says Engine
Parts Represent Years
Of Research Work

The Star car motor, built by the Continental Motors corporation, represents the sum total of twenty years of experience in the exclusive and specialized business of designing, developing and building gasoline engines of finest quality and of the most sound and stable construction designs, according to C. A. Dille, member of the firm of Dille & Armstrong, local distributors of the Star cars.

"The right-hand side of the motor verifies this statement at first hand," he said. "The cylinders and crank case are cast in one block of gray iron, in which the texture, as well as machining and grinding qualities, are such as to make it exceptionally desirable where quality and long life are predominating features in connection with the motor to be produced."

Mr. Dille says that business has been very brisk every since their new salesroom on Harvard, between Brand and Orange, was opened.

Employ Science in 'Hooded Mob' Case

BASTROP, La., Jan. 6.—The wizardry of modern science will be used today to prove that Matt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, victims of a "hooded mob," were slowly tortured to death in Morehouse parish last August by a series of barbarities declared to have been unequalled since the Spanish inquisition.

The state pathologists, Drs. John Langford and Charles Duval, were waiting to take the witness stand at the second day's "open hearing" on the murders to reveal the manner of death meted to Daniels and Richards, through their cold methodical deductions, made at an inquest over the masses of decayed flesh and crushed bones, the state announced it would show the two victims were slowly tortured to death by a process almost beyond human belief.

KIWANIS CLUB IN FIRST GATHERING

A. L. Ferguson Presides at Luncheon; Select New Committee Heads

The first meeting of the new year was held yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn by the Glendale Kiwanis club.

A. L. Ferguson, newly-elected president, presided for the first time at the session which was devoted to matters pertaining to the efficiency of the local Kiwanis club.

Lyman P. Clark, retiring president, was commended for being credited with 100 per cent attendance since the club was organized. It was explained that the only luncheon he had missed was while he was attending a Kiwanis convention in San Francisco.

Songs, including several new ones, were a feature of the occasion. These were led by O. W. Andresen, and accompanied by Harry Girard.

Attendance Prize

The attendance prize was won by S. Berman. It was a memorandum book brought by Mr. Ferguson, whose attendance slip was the third one to be drawn out of the hat by W. H. Hooper. It happened that Mr. Ferguson had changed the regular procedure and had announced that the fourth one would win the prize.

Considerable was said about "dates" for charter night and other programs, but the dates that seemed to be relished the most came in boxes and were brought by Frank Echols as the silent boost.

Announcement of permanent committee chairmen was made as follows: Bert Perry, house committee; Lyman P. Clark, classification committee; W. H. Reeves, public affairs committee; J. Ray Bentley, by-laws committee; Herman Nelson, publicity committee; Dr. John Anderson, membership committee; O. W. Andresen, music committee; Henry Knehn, attendance committee; Frank H. Pilling, business standards; C. D. Thom, grievance; Emil O. Kiefer, reception; A. L. Baird, visitation.

Applaud Secretary

Secretary Don H. Webb was applauded when it was announced that he had been selected by the board of directors to continue in office as secretary.

A. L. Baird was credited with having brought in more members, since the organization of the club, than any other member.

To co-operate in the Community Service campaign a committee was appointed, consisting of C. W. Ingledue, Herman Nelson and Lyman P. Clark.

Plans were endorsed to reserve the Sunset Canyon Country club for Friday night, January 19. Harry Girard, promised to arrange a program which could not be surpassed in Southern California, while Fred Deal agreed to see that the menu had the proper number of calories and was properly divided between protein and hydro-carbonates.

Announcement was made that sickness prevented the attendance of C. W. Ingledue, D. H. Smith, M. B. Towman and Dr. T. C. Young.

FLOAT PROPELLED BY FORD'S 'HORSE'

Fordson Tractor Utilized to Drive Bird, Says Local Dealer

What propelled Glendale's prize winning float at the Pasadena Rose Tournament?

Henry Ford's horse—the Fordson universal tractor—did. The trailer on which the little boy rode was a Ford chassis.

The secret was given out yesterday by Clair D'Arge, sales manager for Jesse E. Smith, local Ford distributor. He said that very few people who witnessed the parade realized how the float was propelled.

"The tractor," he said, "was equipped with rubber tires. It was driven by Ray Foster, a Jesse E. Smith mechanic, who was buried in the breast of the huge bird. Foster, from his position, couldn't see a thing. His driving was directed by another employee, who was located in the bird's breast, also. The latter took observations from a pair of peep holes and directed Foster accordingly."

Mr. Foster and his helper propelled the float from Glendale to Pasadena in this manner. The trip required four hours. The tractor used in the float is now being displayed at the Jesse E. Smith agency, 125 West Colorado.

THE CHURCH AND BAD DEBTS

A CREDIT MAN once made the remark that there are not so many bad debts in a church-going community as in a city where church influence is weak. That is one reason why business is on a higher level in cities where churches are strong, for instance, in Glendale.

Of course there are hundreds of men and women in Glendale and other cities who are not church members and yet are scrupulously honest in paying all bills promptly. But credit experts seem to have made the deduction from long experience that a church-going community is essentially a community with business integrity.

The church teaches and fosters honor and honesty in all our human relations and this one point alone justifies its existence.

There are people who believe it to be wrong to steal but who will evade the paying of an honest debt whenever possible. Every man and woman in business is familiar with the debtor who postpones the paying of bills as long as possible, then questions the validity of the account and wears the creditor out with arguments until he cancels the debt in sheer self-defense and to save himself further expense and loss of time.

The church teaches the fundamentals of honor, not the letter of the law, but the spirit.

If you are a business man, you undoubtedly have some bad accounts on your books. But give credit to the church that you haven't more.

Community Service Party Monday Night

The recreational department of Glendale's Community Service organization will hold a community party the night of Monday, January 8, at the Glendale Union High school gymnasium, at 7:30 o'clock, announces Mrs. McDonald, president.

This party is a public affair and a large attendance will be the surest indication that there is a need for and an appreciation of such a movement.

A fine program has been prepared by Mrs. Mae Rosenberg's team, whose members are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Rawley, Mr. and Mrs. Troth, Mrs. Jessie Hunt, Mrs. Jennie Hinthorne, Mrs. Margaret Langley, Miss Mary Circle, Miss Taylor and Miss Landersall.

As election of officers will be held at this meeting, together with several other subjects of utmost importance, all members are urgently requested to attend.

These conferences have at least taught us that Ford's isn't the only one who can make flippers.

Billy pulled the ancient article of furniture beneath the opening, and in another moment the two men were in the stuffy atmosphere of the unventilated loft. Beneath them they heard Mrs. Shorter dragging the commode back to its accustomed place, and then the sound of her footsteps descending the stair.

Presently there came to them the rattling of a motor without, followed by the voices of men in the house. For an hour, half asphyxiated by the closeness of the attic, they waited, and then again they heard the sound of the running engine, diminishing as the machine drew away.

Shortly after, Mrs. Shorter's voice rose to them from below: "You ken come down now," she said.

When they had descended she led them to the kitchen.

"I got a bite to eat ready for you while they were here," she explained. "When you've done you ken hide in the barn 'til dark, an' after that I'll have my ol' man take you 'cross to Dodson, that's a junction, an' you'd oughter be able to git away easy enough from there. I told 'em you started for Olathe—there's where they've gone with the two tramps."

"My, but I did have a time of it! I ain't much good at story-tellin' but I reckon I told more stories this afternoon than I ever told before in all my life. I told 'em that they was two of you, an' that the biggest one had red hair, an' the little one was all black-marked. Then they said you probably wasn't the man at all, an' my! how they did swear at them two tramps for gettin' 'em away out here on a wild-goose chase; but they're goin' to look for you jes' the same in Olathe, only they won't find you there," she laughed, a bit nervously though.

It was dusk when Mr. Shorter returned from Holliday, but after he had heard his wife's story he said that he'd drive "them two byes" all the way to Mexico, if there wasn't any better plan.

"Dodson's far enough," Bridge assured him, and late that night the grateful farmer set them down at their destination.

An hour later they were speeding south on the Missouri Pacific. Bridge lay back, luxuriating on the red plush of the smoker seat.

"Some class to us, eh, bo?" asked Billy.

Bridge stretched. The tide-bounds race far up the shore—the hunt is on! The breakers roar!

Her spars are tipped with gold, and o'er her deck the spray is flung; The buoys that frolic in the bay, they nod the way, they nod the way!

The hunt is up! I am the prey! The hunter's bow is strung!

CHAPTER VI
"Baby Bandits"

It was twenty-four hours before Detective Sergeant Flannagan awoke to the fact that something had been put over on him, and that a Kansas farmer's wife had done the putting.

He managed to piece it out finally from the narratives of the two tramps, and when he had returned to the Shorter home and listened to the contradictory and whole-souled improvisations of Shorter pere and mere he was convinced.

Whereupon he immediately telegraphed Chicago headquarters and obtained the necessary authority to proceed upon the trail of the fugitive, Byrne.

And so it was that Sergeant Flannagan landed in El Paso a few days later, drawn thither by various pieces of intelligence he had gathered en route, though with much delay and consequent vexation.

Even after he had quitted the train he was none too sure that he was upon the right trail though he at once repaired to a telegraph office and wired his chief that he was hot on the trail of the fugitive.

As a matter of fact he was much hotter than he imagined, for Billy and Bridge were that very minute not two squares from him, debating as to the future and the best manner of meeting it before it arrived.

"I think," said Billy, "that I'll duck across the border. I won't never be safe in the little old U. S., an' with things hoppin' in Mexico the way they have been for the last few years I orter be able to lose myself pretty well."

"Now, you're all right, ol' top. You don't have to duck nothin' for you ain't did nothin'. I don't know what you're runnin' away from; but I know it ain't nothin' the police is worryin' about—I can tell that by the way you act—so I guess we'll split here. You'd be a boob to cross if you don't have to, fer if Villa don't get you the Carranzas will, unless Zapatas nab you first."

"Comin' or goin' some greasy-gummed highbinder's bound to croak you if you cross, from what little I've heard since we landed in El Paso."

"We'll feed up tonight; fer the last time. Then I'll pull my freight." He was silent for a while and then: "I hate to do it, bo, fer you're the whitest guy I ever struck," which was a great deal for Billy Byrne of Grand Avenue to say.

Bridge finished rolling a brown paper cigarette before he spoke.

Daily NewsLetter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—New York has been maligned, asseverates Roland Krebs, correspondent in that city. For turpitude magnified to the nth degree and of infinite variety, look elsewhere than in the great metropolis, he advises.

MONDAY—Missouri druggists who really sell drugs are organizing to oust the bootlegger from behind the drug counter, writes Douglas G. Tinsley, correspondent at St. Louis.

For International News Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — New York, pictured for years by stage, book and film as the hub of iniquity, vice, immorality and all else that is bad and rotten, has been terribly maligned.

On the contrary, New York doubtless is the most moral city in the world. A young man coming here to make his fortune has as good a chance of becoming sin as good a chance of becoming a saint in a monastery. New York is so utterly moral that it breeds corn on one's sense of decency.

The writer has been exposed to much more immorality—great gobs of it—in Akron, Ohio, and Flagstaff, Ariz., than in this metropolis, whose ruin and damnation, supposed to be as ubiquitous and tenacious as flypaper.

The only way to be immoral in New York is to be rich. Vice is terribly expensive. It is found only in costly apartments, and it has a retinue of lackeys and three or four cars.

True Broadway has its quota of vamps, but business went back to normalcy all too soon have them. They wander up and down the Rialto and strive, oh, so hard, to appear vivacious! But through the cracked laughter and dimming eyes groans and glares the question, "When do we eat?"

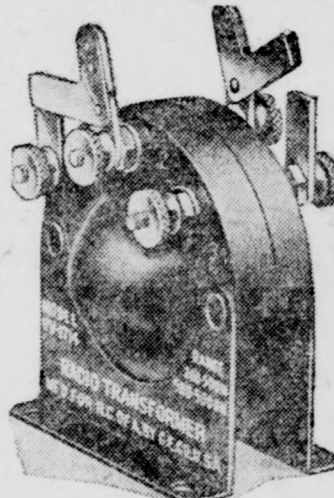

In these days it's Walla Walla and places like that that are sinful, for, so far as New York is concerned, vice has joined the back-to-the-farm movement.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

GREATER RECEIVING RANGE WITH LESS DISTORTION

Amplification in radio reception means increased signal audibility. The current developed in a radio receiving set from a distant transmitting station is not always of sufficient intensity to operate a telephone or a loud speaker. It is for this reason that radio frequency amplification or combination of both must be resorted to. The radio frequency amplifier consists of a group of vacuum tubes in cascade, interconnected by specially designed transformers which increase the intensity of the signaling current in its original form. The audio frequency amplifier, on the other hand, amplifies the output of a detector tube which has changed the amplified high frequency current to a form which will operate a telephone receiver.

RADIO EXPLAINED

AMATEURS IMPOSED UPON

The writer is receiving numerous inquiries regarding various advertised radio devices and equipment, requesting advice upon their relative merits and in numerous cases investigated, grossly overrated claims.

It must be borne in mind by the experimenter that many essentials are required to build a good radio set. For instance, the best transmitting condensers are now constructed with a mica dielectric.

The mica must necessarily be perfect if the condenser is to be a good one, as it suffers large strains. Mica is not a commodity readily available, as it is mined in few and distant places, and the grade required by a conscientious manufacturer hard to obtain.

It is true mica of a kind can be obtained in large quantities, but not the pure, unblemished large sheets required for radio engineering.

The unprecedented rise of radio to public popularity created a tremendous demand for equipment of all kinds. Prior to this demand there were a few old established manufacturers equipped with good facilities and officered by first class engineers of proven ability. Their output was limited to the small commercial field existing after the war. By great efforts they met only a small portion of the new demand, but they maintained their standards of manufacture and engineering, and the new experimenter who was fortunate enough to deal in their wares was undoubtedly gratified with results. However, the new demand brought new life to "war baby" manufacturing concerns, which had machinery that could be utilized for turning out radio devices.

Unfortunately, many of the devices only had fancy names that deceived the newcomer into the radio game.

The writer has visited the plants of some concerns and found that a firm with a most imposing name and boasting of miracles in their advertisements merely consisted of an attic, hastily turned into a small workshop to produce some so-called radio equipment.

The woods are full of them. The experimenter would do well to deal only with old reliable houses, even if there is a delay in delivery.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PENNY BANK

"There you go again, Uncle Wiggily! Put a penny in the bank!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman one day as he quickly hopped into his hollow stump bungalow.

"What now? Didn't I wipe my paws on the doormat?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, you did not," answered Nurse Jane with a switch of her long tail. "You skipped right over the mat without stopping to wipe your paws, and goodness knows how much dirt you brought into the bungalow. Put a penny in the bank. Here it is."

Nurse Jane held a small iron bank, shaped like a little schoolhouse, in front of Mr. Longears.

Uncle Wiggily dropped a penny inside the bank. The coin jingled down among about two of three hundred others already in the toy bank.

"You must try and remember to wipe your paws when you come in," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she put the penny bank back on the mantel shelf.

"Yes, I had better remember or I'll soon be a poor, ruined rabbit, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Yes, indeed!"

The way it happened he had to put a penny in the bank was this. Uncle Wiggily was thinking so much about adventures that often he forgot to wipe his paws when he came in. Seeing this Nurse Jane had said:

"After this each time you forget to clean your paws on the mat before you come in, you must put a penny in the bank I shall set."

"All right," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "But what will we do with the penny?"

"Oh, there will be sure you will forget many times, to wipe your paws," said Nurse Jane. "And when I get enough I will buy a new doormat. Perhaps you can see a new one better than the old one."

"Perhaps," agreed Uncle Wiggily. At first he did not imagine he would have to put many pennies in the bank. But, as the days passed and he forgot to wipe his paws, the pennies grew and grew inside the bank until there were a great many of them. Nurse Jane was very particular, which means careful, to watch when Uncle Wiggily hopped in. And if he didn't wipe his paws she'd cry:

"One penny, please!" and the bank would be jingled under his pink and twinkling nose.

"But this time you shouldn't have charged me a penny for not wiping my paws," said Uncle Wiggily, when he came in, as I have told you.

"Why not?" asked Nurse Jane. "Because I was in such a hurry. I was running to get away from the Fox who was chasing me."

"That's no excuse," said the muskrat lady. "You must learn to wipe your feet."

"Hum!" said Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. Then Nurse Jane went to the six and seven cent store to get a new piano and Uncle Wiggily fell asleep in his easy chair.

All of a sudden he heard the door open. At first he thought it was Nurse Jane, but it happened to be the Woozie Wolf.

"I have come to nibble your ears!" howled the Wolf.

"Oh, dear!" thought the bunny. "How can I make the Wolf go away? I know. I'll make him pay a penny for not wiping his paws; for I'm pretty sure he didn't wipe them as they're so dirty." So to the Wolf the bunny said:

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—There will be no conflict of Sunday baseball games in this man's town in spite of telegrams of instructions to the schedule committee from the fevered pens of Charles A. Stoneham of the Giants, and Colonel T. L. Huston of the Yankees.

Stoneham stands for a showdown and all the conflicting dates the law will allow. He expressed these sentiments, in effect, in a wire sent to John A. Heydler, president of the National league. Huston will have none of it and has so informed Ban Johnson, American league president. It sounds very much like the opening skirmish of a strictly private war, but there will be none.

composed of Johnson, Heydler and Barney Dreyfus, meets at Atlantic City today, it will avoid all conflicts much after the manner of Bergdoll avoiding the war. Under existing circumstances, the committee can do no less since it is pledged to eliminate such features in the event that a club in either league protests.

It all comes under the head of mid-winter clap-trap, anyhow. Stoneham knows perfectly well that if the Yanks wish to make an issue of this question, there can be no possibility of winning his point. His telegram of protest and the kindly rejoinder of Huston, in which he referred to Stoneham as "mercenary," there seems just to be part of the off-season chatter in which a magnate must indulge.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The futility of expecting to arouse interest in post season football games of an intersectional character between teams that have been beaten during the season and therefore are not representative of championship caliber was demonstrated on two occasions recently on the Pacific coast.

Less than 7000 persons attended the game between Stanford university and Pittsburg, and the huge Stanford Stadium which accommodates 60,000 persons appeared as a huge wilderness of empty seats. Stanford had been beaten several times during the 1922 season, as also had Pittsburg. Stanford rated third or fourth among the teams of the Pacific coast, and Pittsburg was even lower on the scale as far as eastern teams were concerned.

The result was that it mattered not which team lost or won, it decided nothing whatever. The public could not be warmed up to taking an interest in a contest which decided absolutely nothing. This season end game was arranged in midseason, after both teams had met with reverses and practically counted out, so it is difficult to understand on what premises the promoters figured that they could attract the crowds.

As a matter of fact, there seems no question that a post season game which is designed to represent a championship battle between the best team of the east and west cannot be arranged for until the status of each team has been determined after it has played its full schedule. A University of California-Princeton contest would have resulted in 100,000 applications for seats, but the match could not have been clinched until Princeton had defeated both Harvard and Yale.

Needless to say, it is a difficult matter to arrange a match of the magnitude on so small notice, but it would seem that as the season drew near its close, it would be fairly easy to determine which of two or three teams would be the most likely sectional champion and thus forewarn the organization that it might be one of the teams, finally selected.

West Virginia and Gonzaga played to a crowd that was about the same size as the crowd that attended the Stanford-Pittsburg game. The University of Southern California and Penn state game fared better, but the audience in even this case was nothing to brag about based on the attendance which nowadays one expects to see at so-called "Big games."

It is not likely that any more experiments will be tried in the matter of getting the best available team for the sake of an east-west contest. It has been determined to the satisfaction of all that the teams must have championship caliber so that a win actually means something in the final summing up of the season.

FROM WASTE TO THRIFT

Rent Receipts Can Never Purchase a Home for You

The wasteful family piles up rent receipts from year to year—unless fire burns them or the mice make nests in them.

The thrifty family turns a rent receipt into a payment on a home, thereby saving moving inconvenience and expense and avoiding the annual house-hunting nuisance.

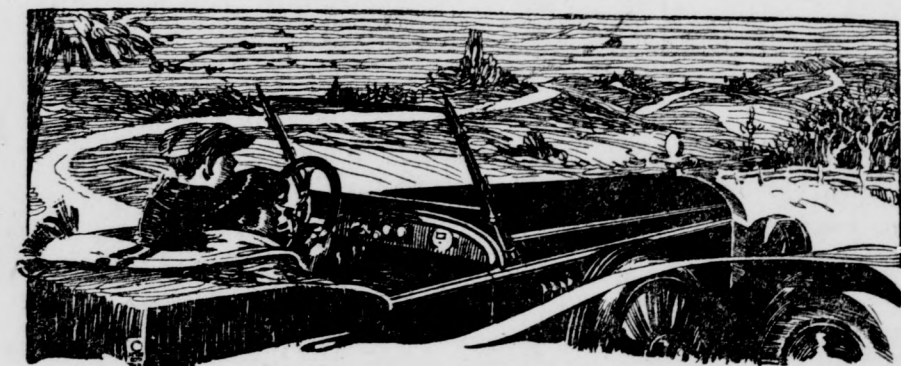

Uncle Sam urges you to be thrifty; likewise every business man in the town. But, more than all, your wife and the kiddies are mute petitions every time you see them or think of them—to be thrifty and build your own home, and theirs.

Lop off a few of the unnecessary expenditures which every man has; add the sum saved to what you now pay for rent and the expenses of moving and wear and tear on furniture. You will be surprised how easily you can build a home on your present income.

IRELAND'S PEACE TERMS ARE TOLD

Head of Dail Eireann Says
Republicans Must Bow
To Free State

By DANIEL O'CONNELL,
For International News Service.
DUBLIN, Jan. 6.—Irish republicans must accept the Free State's peace terms or war will continue, President William T.
Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann announced today. His statement was in reply to a reported peace
resolution of the republicans.

"The minority made war," said
President Cosgrave, "and now
when they are beaten they squeal.
They wanted war and now when peace is made they want peace,
but always at their own price.
They can have peace tomorrow,
but only at terms which are safe for the people. If they do not accept these terms they must take war at their own cost. We paid a heavy price for what we got. We will now get full value from what the people won despite the irregulars. If they have had enough war let them say so. We will meet them again as brothers, but we are not going to risk another four courts."

Armed bands of guerrillas began a campaign of railway terrorism on the outskirts of Dublin today. A train was bombed and the passengers thrown into panic
but none was injured. Another train was held up by armed men.
The locomotive was uncoupled
and sent at full speed towards Dublin. Seven persons were injured when it crashed into a passenger train.

An attachment that can be used

FRANCE PREPARES TO INVADE RUHR

Date of Occupation Being Kept Secret; May Move
During Next Week

anne to confer with Marshal Foch and Premier Poincare regarding French military movements.

Great Activities
There is great activity in the French army of occupation on the Rhine. It is reported the war office is hurrying plans to send more guns and munitions.

In response to inquiries as to when the French advance would begin, the following statement was issued at the war ministry.

"The prerogative to decide proper measures to be taken rests with the cabinet. We have not yet received any news of a formal decision."

A rumor was circulated that secret orders were being issued for the French army to begin its march into the Ruhr on Sunday,
but it was generally discredited.

In this connection it was recalled that President Millerand issued secret orders for the advance of the French into Frankfort on the occasion of the last
military activity in the Rhineland.
On the other hand the official Matin outlined the probable program of the government as follows:

"After Germany is declared in default of coal and coke deliveries, there is to be a seizure of industrial plants in the Rhineland. This is to be followed by a parley with the Germans after which official orders will be issued for the military advance."

Being Mobilized
Civil mining engineers and customs officials are being mobilized here for duty in the Rhineland.

Most of the newspapers close to the Germans predicted that French troops would advance into the Ruhr about the middle of next week. They said the movement probably would be undertaken suddenly so as to prevent dangers of systematic ambushing and to give the army training in surprise activity.

The Journal forecasts that Germany's coal and coke default
would be made official on Tuesday.

"France must punish these voluntary defaults of Germany," said
the Journal. "The world will laugh at us if we do not go ahead
now."

According to the official Matin, Premier Poincare will address the chamber and senate on Wednesday or Thursday upon the reparations situation.

Echo de Paris, favorite newspaper of the army, predicted that "Americans would change their opinion when they see that France is not undertaking a military maneuver, but a reasonable, studied plan for economic seizure."

The city is calm and there have been no extra editions of newspapers. It is claimed that M.
Poincare has received encouraging cablegrams from prominent Americans.

Church to Present Notable Lecturer

The Church of Latter-Day Saints announces an illustrated lecture at the Knights of Pythias hall, 1023 South Brand boulevard,
at 7:30 o'clock the night of January 10.

Gustave O. Larson, notable lecturer for the church, will deliver the program, on the subject,
"Mormon History from its Beginning to the Present Time."
No admission will be charged.

DISCLOSE METHOD OF OIL 'CROOKS'

Senate Committee Reveals
'Pinching' System Used
By Big Producers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Arbitrary method of shutting off vast oil supplies by means of which producing companies are enabled virtually to control at will the economic law of supply and demand has been revealed to the senate committee probing the
general oil and gasoline industry.
It was developed today.

This practice, known technically as "pinching" the oil wells, has prevailed for a considerable period, according to Gilbert E.
Rowe, attorney for the inquisi-torial committee, but the exten-siveness with which it has swept the country has only now been made known.

Fully forty per cent of the available national oil supply, especially in the Rocky mountain section, has been "pinched," or hoarded under ground, according to the witnesses' testimony. This,
in general, has been substantiated
by secret statistics gathered for the committee by experts
from the federal trade commission.

Oil Supply "Pinched"

A well is "pinched" when the oil flow is checked, and the oil, instead of being taken out and stored in reservoirs or tanks, is allowed to remain within the well.

Thus, with the oil supply curtailed to a subnormal level, there is opened an opportunity for summary manipulation of wholesale and retail prices of refined products which would be well nigh impossible should the normal flow of oil wells be allowed to remain
unhampered, Roe explained.

While much evidence has been gathered bearing directly on the alleged price machinations by certain of the country's large oil interests, the committee is not yet
prepared to fix definite responsibility, declared Roe, but will do so in the report expected to be made public shortly after the hearings are concluded late this month.

Search for Victims Of Bridge Disaster

KELSO, Wash., Jan. 6.—Dynamite will be exploded today in and around the wreckage of the tumbled Cowlitz river bridge in hopes of recovering some of the unknown number of victims who are believed to be pinned in the debris.

A fleet of launches will comb
the wreckage as it floats downstream toward the Columbia river. With obstacles cleared away, grappling hooks will paw over the entire river bottom in the final search for bodies. The list of missing remains at twenty.
Authorities believe the bodies
have been carried into the Columbia river. A six-mile current is running in the swollen Cowlitz
and the search for bodies is extremely difficult.

Allies Hand Turks New War Protocol

LAUSANNE, Jan. 6.—Final draft of a protocol to protect the lives and interests of foreigners in Turkey, replacing the old system of capitulations, was handed to the Turks this afternoon by the allied delegates in the near east conference.

If the Turks refuse to accept it
the allies are expected to continue negotiations on this issue.
